LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1867

THE ELECTION IN VIRGINIA.

[Lynchburg News, 2nd.]

A Row.—On the evening of the election in Amherst county a large crowd of radical negroes attacked a colored man named Elisha H. Hines, who had opened the grocery store, near Cunningham's grocery, and were beating him very severely, when Mr. Cunningham, who witnessed the assault, endeavored to put a stop to it. The negroes then turned him, and endeavored to shoot him, and struck the one who was passing most closely upon him several times in the face, inflicting severe wounds. This frightened the rest of the negroes and they fled. The negroes then gathered around Mr. Cunningham, who would in all probability have been killed, and all because he dared to vote contrary to the dictates of the League.

Lynchburg Virginian, 2d.

ANTI-RADICAL MOVEMENT.—We learn that the young men in the various cities of the South are uniting in clubs, with a view to coming to a mutual understanding in regard to taking up themselves certain light duties heretofore performed by colored men so that their employers may dispense with the services of negroes in consequence of the spirit manifested by the negroes' President. This plan, if carried out, will cause quite a number of them to have to look elsewhere for their bread-and-meat. What else can we expect from a foolish and offensive attitude they have assumed toward the people of the South?

Bethelton Whig, 2d.

The election returns show with painful distinctness that the negroes have drawn a deep red line between themselves and the white race, and have created nothing, color everything.

The leadership of a few pestilent and infamous whites, who will, no doubt, live long enough to suffer in this world the punishment due to their crimes, the negroes (with many of them) have given up the black population, and it needs no prophetic voice to foretell how and to what ends that power will be used.

In the language of the Charlotteville Chronicle, very considerate effort has been made by the Southern negroes to guarantee the safety of the law.

Every form of overture has been made to the blacks by the whites. Every application was referred to carry the election.

All has been in vain. It is of the deepest contempt to order from a marshal's court, the negroes have delivered their vote.

To show the abjectness and completeness of their submission to the negroes, we must look upon as a random declaration which lately appeared in a Democratic journal of great ability and influence.

Said this journal:

"As we anticipated, scarcely any white men voted in Georgia upon the Convention question. More than nine-tenths of the voting, in that State, so far as returns have been received, was done by negroes voting as a unit, and that unit has been wielded by those who sooner than serve in heaven would rule in hell. No graver complication of affairs was ever presented to the Government, nor can it be denied that we walk on the brink of a social volcano, which at any moment may burst out with the fury of insurrection."

This is the true state of things.

It is the duty of the agent to remedy this shameful neglect. The excuse that manifold paper is not to be had might pass for once or twice; but the giving of such a reason month after month is scandalous. If the agent cannot do better, he should be succeeded by some one who can. We have repeatedly complained of the matter privately, but without effect. The cost of the paper is a mere trifle in comparison with the inconvenience of the delay in the delivery of the messages, and the deficiency must be corrected.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 30.

There were only nine yellow fever infections yesterday.

At a meeting of the Board of Health last night, the question was raised whether a yellow fever was no longer epidemic; it was opposed and referred to the Committee on Health. Dr. Stone said the disease had run its course, and was no longer a public menace.

Several prominent Southerners have recently expressed to the President their conviction that a general outbreak among the negroes is imminent. They say nearly every man in the South is infected, while the whites are almost entirely without the means of defense.

The impeachment of the President is believed to be the time determined upon for the outbreak. The negroes are armed, while the whites are almost entirely without the means of defense.

The latest dispatches from Rome before the destruction of telegraphic communication are highly important. The insurgents in the city were actively engaged and were threatening to burn the city, while the whites are almost entirely without the means of defense.

The Pope has issued an order forbidding the troops of Garibaldi to enter the Eternal City. Orsini shells were being fired in the streets by the party of action, and the council made no provision for any other administration of the city.

The ordinance was passed over the veto by the Board of Assistant Aldermen, but has not yet been acted upon by the upper house.

Leamont, of the Sixth District Court, has voted to postpone the injunction granted to the School Board, restraining the Mayor from promulgating the ordinance.

The ordinance was passed over the veto of Leamont, but might be rejected by the military authorities to remove the present board, two blacks voting in favor of it, and four whites against it.
